

October Newsletter

The 2014-2015 school year is underway! Aging Studies Institute welcomes everyone back! There are plenty of events taking place this year, that we think will be greatly enjoyed. Our newsletter will be distributed monthly to keep you up to date visit our website: asi.syr.edu for the latest news and events.

2014 Gerontology Education Workshop Participants with Janet Wilmoth and Doug Wolf

Just in case you missed it... Since our last newsletter, the Aging Studies Institute and the Center for Aging Policy Studies hosted 16 faculty and care providers at our week long Gerontology Education Workshop held June 1-5. In addition to a hearing keynote speaker Robert Hudson from Boston University discuss the Future of Old Age Policy, "students" got to hear presentations from every faculty associate in ASI and a number of faculty affiliates. Students also participated in policy simulation exercises and presented group modules on Caregiving, Intergenerational Relationships, Healthcare, Long-Term Care as well as Work and Retirement.

Did You Hear?

Merril Silverstein was asked by the International Sociological Association

Research Committees on Aging and Family to host their next conference here at Syracuse University. The Aging Studies Institute is taking the lead in organizing this event that will be held June 3-6, 2015. We expect aging researchers from around the world to attend this event. We have added to our website a Call for Papers for the Conference and we are currently building a new website dedicated to the Conference that will provide further detailed information.
